Part of the Show - Auditions to the Stage!

BEFORE You Audition

Before recording your audition, please:

- Request to join the Google Classroom for the production.
- Carefully read all information posted in Google Classroom, including the link to the Show Dashboard, which serves as the central hub for the production.
- Review the tentative rehearsal and performance schedule to determine if you can fully commit to the production.
- Learn as much as you can about the show, its characters, and the role(s) you are interested in auditioning for.
- Carefully follow all audition directions, including:
    - Preparing the required audition songs and/or scenes
    - Watching the audition instruction videos
    - Recording your slate
    - Completing the conflict portion of the audition

The more prepared you are, the more confident you'll feel during the audition process.

Step 1: Audition

Submit all required audition materials by the published deadline.

Auditions are designed to help directors find the best fit for every student while providing opportunities for growth, learning, and success.

Step 2: After Casting

Once the cast list is announced:

- Accept your role in Google Classroom.
- Complete the required assignments posted in Google Classroom.
- Register in Jumbula, our student management system.
- Pay the production fee or request a payment plan, scholarship, or eligible discounts.
- Families interested in serving in leadership roles (such as Show Parent, Costume Manager, or other key production positions) may qualify for additional discounts when available.

Step 3: Stay Connected

Throughout the production:

- Read Google Classroom announcements regularly.
- Use the Show Dashboard as your primary reference for calendars, rehearsal information, videos, forms, and production resources.
- Complete assignments by their deadlines.
- Notify the directors immediately of any new conflicts or schedule changes.
- Stay informed so you don't miss important announcements, reminders, or opportunities.
